

U.S. Hybrid Electric Vehicle Sales

The Toyota Prius has been the big seller in this category (181,221 units sold in 2007). On the other side of the coin, the Honda Insight two-seater hybrid was high on the list eight years ago but is no longer on the market. The Toyota Camry hybrid is now ranked second on the sales list. With highly publicized operators such as ECOLIMO and OZOCar, and operator alliances through Green Ride Global and Limousine Environmental Action Partnership (LEAP), not to mention regulatory moves in New York City and other key markets, the chauffeured transportation industry keeps its eyes wide open on this subject.
